

"Spring's Awakening," as danced by (left to right) Zaza Arroyo, Gloria Gould, Annette Sleeper at the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Chalif School.

The ballet of Chalif School pupils at Carnegie Hall last week pleased all beholders. Left to Right — Harriet Hector, Grace Cody, Zaza Arroyo and Marguerite de la Porte.

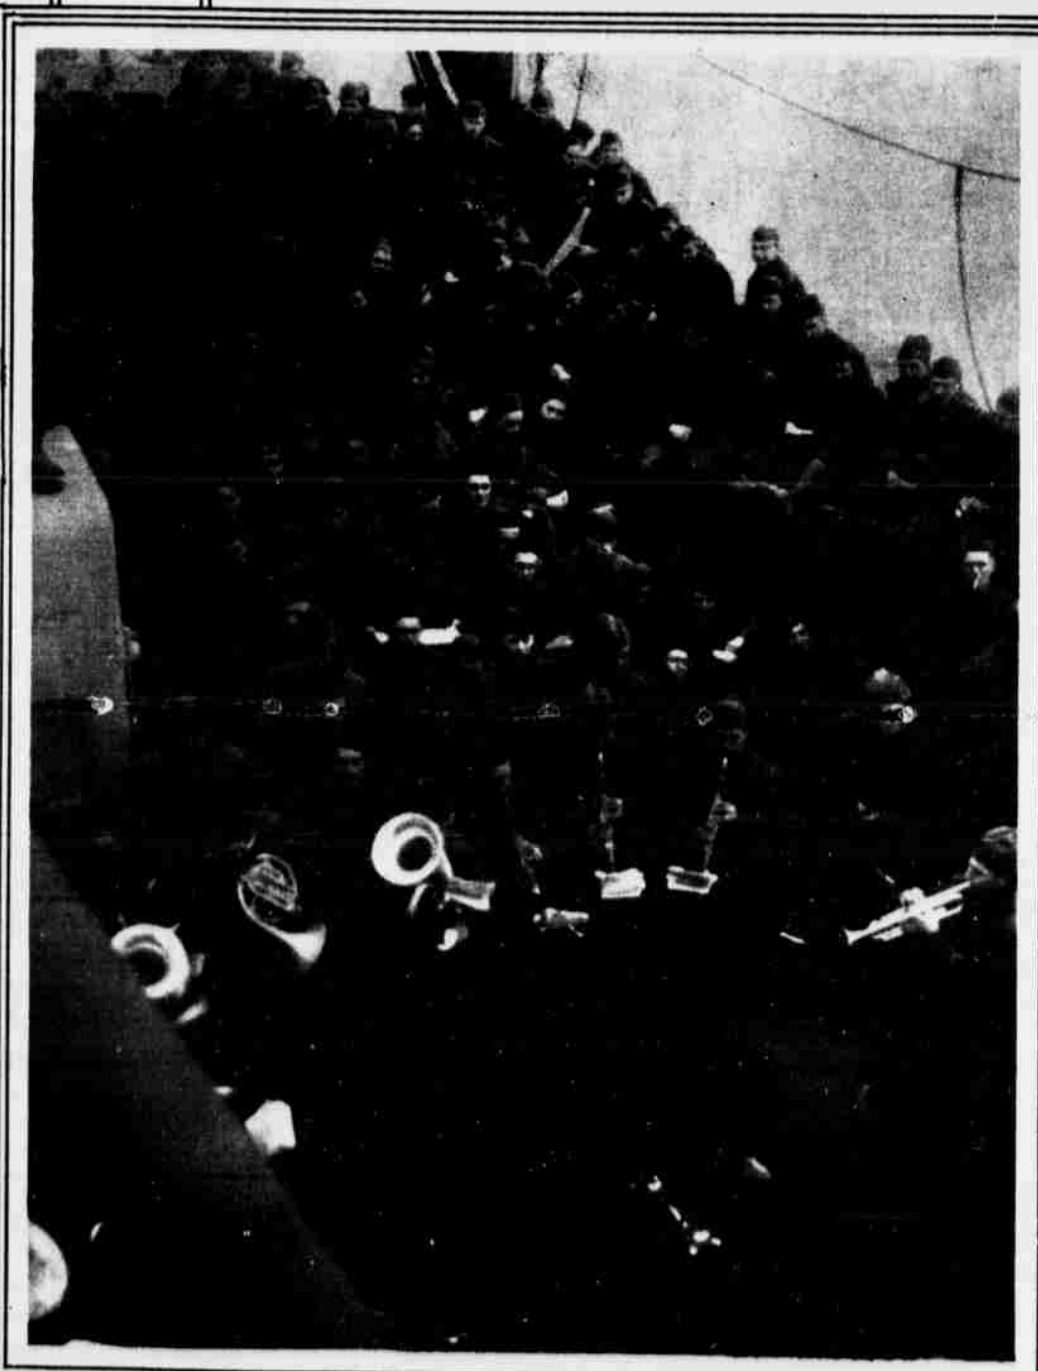

Gloria Gould, youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould, in another of the pretty poses in "Spring's Awakening."

This group of maidens made an especially happy impression. Left to Right—Frances Chalif, Zaza Arroyo, Annette Sleeper, Harriet Hector, Grace Cody, Marguerite de la Porte and Gloria Gould. They were literally applauded.

M. Andre Tardieu left, French High Commissioner to the United States, and Capt. Montaux, the Peace Conference interpreter.

On the way home with the men of the road Engineers, formerly the Twenty-second Engineers of New York, who reached port the other day on the Rochambeau.

Rodman Wanamaker and his son, Capt. John Wanamaker, who returned on the George Washington from active service in France.